From Christian Fike & His Descendants: (pg. 10)

Christian, Sr. died between Aug. 27, 1771 and 20 Sept. 1771. His will was probated in Chester Co., PA. On 19 Sept. 1775, Ann and Margaret Fike, sisters of Jacob, petitioned the court in Chester County to appoint guardians for the two younger children of Christian Sr., namely Catherine aged twelve and Jacob, aged 7. John, son of Christian and sole executor of Christian Sr.'s will, told the court he intended to leave Chester County for the frontier of Pennsylvania, about two hundred miles away, and was afraid the children might lose their inheritance unless a guardian was appointed. Ann and Margaret asked for John Kinagee and Adam Richabough. The court appointed them. Nothing more is heard of Jacob until 1798, when Jacob left his Amish family and was catechized and examined before being confirmed 13 May 1789 and Baptized 16 May 1789 in the Castleman River. Some churches were very strict in their doctrine governing membership and marriage. He must have married Eve Moyer within weeks of his baptism, since the 1790 census shows him having one child.

(pg. 12)

Brother George Hinebaugh, a minister of the Brethren from the Elk Lick church, would occasionally preach in the neighborhood. After three years, the number of baptized had increased so that in the Fall of 1814, they appointed a love feast at the home of Brother Jacob Fike, one mile from Markleysburg. An election was held for one 'speaker' and one 'deacon'. The lot fell on Jacob Fike as speaker and on Alexander Thomas as deacon. In 1827, Jacob became involved with a Mary Barnthouse, and they left the Markleysburg area and moved to Guernsey Co., Ohio. Before he left he provided for Eve as long as she lived. She gave her third (dower) of the estate of Jacob Fike to her John in return for sufficient food, raiment, lodging and all things necessary for her support for the rest of her life." The descendants of Jacob feel he waited until Eve died before he married Mary Barnthouse. That marriage occurred in Guernsey County on 29 Dec. 1836.

Jacob married Eve Moyer^{2, 16} about 1793.⁴ The marriage ended in divorce. Eve was born in 1770¹⁶ and died in 1836 in Fayette Co, Pa^{1, 16} at age 66.

Children from this marriage were:

- i. Elizabeth Fike was born in 1789 in Elk Lick Twp, Somerset Co, Pa.¹⁶
- ii. Jacob Fike Jr was born in 1794 in Elk Lick Twp, Somerset Co, Pa.^{1, 4}
- iii. Mary Fike was born on 21 May 1798 in Somerset Co, Pa^{4, 14, 17} and died on 27 Apr 1840 in Preston Co, West Virginia^{4, 14, 17} at age 41.

"Thomas, Alexander,
sergt, Mar 1802, dead;"

The "Laurel Messenger", February, 1993, pg. 104: "...This was the Alexander Thomas emigrated to America some time before the Revolution, a pioneer in western PA. He was wounded and captured during the Canadian Campaign, wounded again at the Battle of Germantown, wounded again on the privateer Constitution in it's encounter with the British sloop Savage, while he was serving as Sergeant of Marines."

OCTOBER 4,1777 The Battle of Germantown

On October 2nd, Washington conceived a bold plan of attack on Howe's 9,000 troop garrison stationed in Germantown. It called for the simultaneous advance of four different units of troops -- moving by night. At dawn, the four columns were to converge not far from General Howe's headquarters and catch the British by surprise.

The morning started well for the Americans who had the British retreating. But Washington's plan went astray when one of his four columns lost its bearings in a dense fog and thick smoke. Others columns failed to coordinate effectively.

The British defense was particularly strong at a Germantown mansion named Cliveden where dozens of soldiers had taken refuge. Valuable time was lost while the Americans under Henry Knox bombarded the house. Those inside did not surrender because they feared that Anthony Wayne's men, still furious over the Paoli Massacre, would kill them anyway.

In the end, bad luck and poor timing forced Washington to retreat to Whitmarsh with the British in pursuit.

The Battle was an American defeat but it served to boost morale and self-confidence. They believed the defeat was the result of bad luck, not poor tactics.

Ancestors of James Thomas

The Americans suffered 152 losses, 521 wounded, and over 400 captured. The British casualties numbered 537 plus 14 captured."

Brian Thomas notes: "He was a Sgt. in Major James Grier's Co., 10th PA. Reg't, June-Aug 1780. He held land in Conemaugh and Greenville Twps., Somerset Co., PA. Alexander THOMAS, born about 1741, died 14 Feb 1802, buried Feb 1802 in Greenville Twp. Somerset Co., Pa.. Alexander was married to a woman named Catherine , whose maiden name is unknown. Catherine's tombstone bears the inscription, "Catherine, wife of Alexander 'Thomas,"

Alexander Thomas's activities after he arrived in Pennsylvania are somewhat vague, but enough evidence exist to construct a chronology of his movemants. The earliest account is found in the obituary of one of his grandsons, Christian Thomas, who died in 1908 it states,:"Alexander sold his farm and received as pay a large sum of continental money, which afterwards became almost wothless, and he found himself begging. Afterward he came into possession of a piece of land not far from Johnstown, where he reared a family."

The farm in eastern Pennsylvania, according to family tradition, was to have been in what is now Lebanon County, but this has not been validated. Alexander's move to "a piece of land not far from Johnstown", however, can be substantiated. A passage from "Two Centurries of the Church of the Brethren in Western Pennsylvania 1751-1951" states: "We are told that Michael Thomas Sr. was born in what is now Conemaugh Township, on August 15, 1774 his father, Alexander Thomas, patented two-hundred acres of land here, November 3, 1789."

The land patent referred to can be found in the Pennsylvania Archives. It is not determined, though, just exactly where that tract of land was. Alexander owned another tract of land in what is now Greenville Township, Somerset County.

A map gleaned from the county records office clearly shows a tract of 147 acers patented to Alexander Thomas on November 3, 1789. It is interesting to note that the patent dates for both Alexander's land holdings are the same and that the patents were taken, if the account of son Michael's birthplace is to be believed, after the family had lived on at least one of the tracts for fifteen years.

Alexander Thomas, according to family tradition, was a veteran of the Revolutionary War. Enough evidence has been found to establish this tradition through J. Montgomery Seaver, in his "Thomas Family History", listing two Alexander Thomases as having served in the Revolutionary War. The first was an officer in three different Rhode Island regimants. The second is listed simply as Alexander Thomas of New Jersey. Since neither of these are listed to have served with a Pennsylvania Unit it is unlikely they are our ancestors. The third Alexander Thomas, seems to be the correct one, as his name is listed in the Pennsylvania Archives as a Sergeant in Major James Grier's Company of the tenth Pennsylvania Regiment "in the seRvice of the United States for June, July and August, 1780." A further entry in the Archives lists a SerGeant Alexander Thomas, R.A. (regular Army) to have been An "Invalded Pensioner" in receipt of his pension at the agency of Philadelphia. This entRy further states his address to be unknown "in consequence of the destruction of the papers of the War Office in 1801 and 1814." but lists his date of death as February 14, 1801. The year of his death listed here corresponds with that handed down through family word of mouth, and is mainly for this reason we believe him to be our somewhat elusive ancestor. Much here has been written to establish that Alexander Thomas, who come from Wales, is our ancestor.

Alexander and Catherine Thomas had seven children, six boys and one girl. Relocated 1772 to Philadelphia, PA. from Wales. Married Catherine (?) THOMAS, buried after 1789 at Conemaugh Twp., Somerset Co., on the Walter Mishler farm.

General Notes: From Early Family Notes:

Alixander must have emigrated to Cornwall, probably to work in the tin mines around Truro and St. Agnes, as he appears on the St. Agnes parish rolls as the father of Elizabeth. Four of his children are registered at St. Agnes; Elizabeth baptized August 12, 1728 Richard baptized February 28, 1730 John baptized April 3, 1738 Alexander baptized October 11, 1740.

We know he must have emigrated after 1715, from the will of his father.

The seaside village of St. Agnes in Cornwall lies about twelve miles west of Truro. It was in the Anglican Church in St. AGnes that Alixander had his children christened. We have the church record and the Bishop's Transcripts, which are on file in the county record offices in Truro: "Thomas, Alexander".

And I give to Anne Thomas, one sixpence and to John William one sixpence: and all rest of my goods I do give them totally unto Alixander Thomas and I do make him my executor of all chatteles good and deptes. Signed and delivered in the presence of William Lewis and John William. Thomas John the mark of Thomas John" "about 1678, Robert Owen had married Rebecca...The witnesses were...John Thomas, Owen Thomas...Cadwalader Thomas ap Hugh, of the township of Kiltalgarth, in Llanvawr, Merionethshire. He was the son of Thomas ap Hugh, ap Evan, ap Rees Goch, ap Tudor, ap Rees, ap Evan Coch, of Bryammer, in the parish of Gerrig y drudion, Denbighshire, derived from Marchwerthian, Lord of Issallt, who bore Gules, a lion rampnt., arg., armed, and langued azure. Cadwalader Thomas died prior to 9th February 1682, as appears by the will of his brother, John Thomas of Laitgwmm, "gentleman," dated as above and proved in Philadelphia, 1688. " (Pg. 535-537)

"Jonathan Jones...married at Merion Meeting, 11th mo., 8th, 1742, Sarah, daughter of 'Thomas Jones, of Merion, deceased, yeoman,' son of John Thomas, of Llaithgwmm, Merionethshire, Wales, descended from Evan Coch, of Gryammer, Denbighshire. (See Penna. Mag., Vol. IV)" (Check this out - according to book, "Genealogies of Pennsylvania Families" 1983)

We can see from John's will that he was a yeoman, which is defined as a farmer who farms his own land, one step below the gentry. He may also have been a miner, as he describes himself as being "of the pitt of Mothvey" (Myddfai). In Wales coal mines are the only mines referred to as pits. We can also deduce from the will that Alixander was his oldest son, since by English law of primogeniture the eldest son inherited everything, as Alixander did. The purpose of primogeniture was to prevent a man's estate from being subdivided among all his heirs. Thus the English estates passed intact from eldest son to eldest son.

John leaves bequests to each of his five siblings and to his father (how we wish he had included his father's name). He must have died relatively young, as he predeceased his own father. He leaves a sixpence to Anne and John William who were probably Alixander's siblings. Anne could have been an older or younger sister, and John William was a younger brother, but at least twenty-one, as he witnessed the will. The small bequests to siblings were to ensure the will could not be contested on the grounds that these persons had been inadvertently omitted.

Noted events in his life were:

- He was employed about 1700 in Myddfai, Carmarthen Co, Wales.³⁸
- He signed a will.
